EXPLANATIONS.

* indicates such Bulbs as are proper for pots, but not for glasses.  indicate such Bulbs as are most proper for forcing either in pots, glasses or moss; all with * or  are proper for the open borders also. See page 3.

¶ The Anaryllidaceæ (page 14) are chiefly greenhouse or stove plants; the hardy kinds are designated. The Iridaceæ are proper for the greenhouse or frame, but they succeed very well in the open borders with a little protection.

September, October and November are the best months for general planting. Iris and Fritillaries do not keep well out of the ground, and should be planted as soon as received, any time during the months of September and October; but they, as well as other hardy bulbs, may be planted much later.

Ladies and Gentlemen are respectfully informed, that if the choice of the Hyacinths, &c. is left to J. Carter, he will guarantee their giving entire satisfaction.

J. Carter requests to be informed whether the Hyacinths are intended for water, pots, baskets, or the open borders; also whether double or single Hyacinths are preferred, or part of each. If the selection is left to him, he generally sends two-thirds double and one-third single, which will be found to give greater variety. Hyacinths may be arranged with much more effect when there are duplicates of the same kind.

Proper for frame, greenhouse, or the open borders; the smaller Bulbs, viz. Ixia and Sporoxis , require a little protection. They should all, except the Tigridias , be planted from September to November. The Gla- dioli are quite hardy and belong to the most splendid ornaments of the borders during the Autumn, when most other bulbs have done flowering.
